

A Call for Applications to Participate in the World Intellectual Property Day Celebrations

Are you an Intellectual Property expert, stakeholder, enthusiast or just passionate about Intellectual Property and sustainable development Goals (SDGs)? If Yes, then this call is for you.

The Business Registrations and Licensing Agency (BRELA) and the Copyright Office of Tanzania (COSOTA) are delighted to announce the call for applications to participate in Intellectual Property Day 2024 Celebrations to be held on the 9th May 2024 in Dar es Salaam. This esteemed event, themed "IP & SDGs: Building a Common Future with Innovation and Creativity," aims at exploring the intersection of Intellectual Property (IP) and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), fostering a dynamic discourse on how innovation and creativity can shape our collective future.

We invite passionate individuals, organizations, and businesses to participate in this remarkable event in the following capacities:

Participants: Engage in thought-provoking discussions, workshops, and networking sessions designed to explore the intersection of Intellectual Property and Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

Speakers: Join esteemed experts and leaders in IP and sustainable development to delve deeper into critical issues, emerging trends, and best practices. Contribute to shaping the discourse and influencing the future direction of IP policies and initiatives.

Exhibitors: Showcase your innovative products, services, and initiatives that exemplify the transformative power of IP in advancing sustainable development. Connect with a diverse audience, including policymakers, entrepreneurs, investors, and the public, to raise awareness and forge partnerships.

Sponsors: Demonstrate your commitment to fostering innovation, creativity, and sustainable development by becoming a sponsor of IP Day 2024. Gain prominent visibility, brand exposure, and networking opportunities while supporting a meaningful cause.
